We have had so much fun with our story The Washing Line by Jez Alborough. We have carried out our own investigation to see how washing dries best. We washed our school aprons and hang them in different places to see where they would dry the best.

We have also been busy working on our addition skills; we have used numicon to make number problems and have begun recording them in number sentences too.

The children have worked very hard and we will be continuing to represent number problems like this next week.

In English next week we will be reading the story The Little Red Hen. This a great story during harvest because it provides opportunity to think about what happens to the wheat that is grown by our farmers. We will be reading and writing about the story. Hopefully, we might even make some bread too.

Harvest Festival

Thank you so much for all of the Harvest Festival food that has been sent in. There has been a fabulous response to our request for food. Please come along to the Harvest Festival on Monday morning if you can. We will have artwork on display from across the school and our Infant children are also singing a song during the festival.

Changing of the Seasons Festival

This is on Thursday next week. Come along at 2pm to spend the afternoon making crafts and enjoying some time in school with us.

Celebration Showcase

Next week is our celebration showcase. Please come along to see what we have been getting up to during our topic. (Celebration Assembly 9am).

Thank you for your continued support,

Mrs Pascoe and the Year 1 Team
